Safe Social Networking: The First Social Tool The first ever social network: Facebook was founded in the year 2004 by Mark Zuckerberg and Eduardo Saverin. Facebook was not originally intended as a social networking tool at all. It was a tool to keep track of groups of people who needed to communicate regularly. People had to use e-mail to communicate. But on Facebook, you don't need to use e-mail. You can simply connect with friends. New Social Networking Trends New social networking trends include: Sharing On Facebook, people share photos, news, and links to their friends. When you find something interesting, you can share it on your wall with a nice little thumbs up icon. You can also share your thoughts with your friends about things that you have seen or even shared on your wall. Don't forget to add your friends to groups, instead of adding them individually to your friends list. This will ensure that you're communicating with the people you want to. Note You're not just spreading your views on something. Friendships The current trend in social networking is to build long-lasting friendships. Everyone likes to get along with his friends. Everyone wants to be friends with others who are also friendly and like to help each oth
