Their latest album “The Universe Has No Home Of Its Own” was released in October 2009. The theme of the song “I Am Not A Doctor” is hope, that “the universe has its own consciousness” and that it’s “understandably scary (that) we are unable to communicate with it”. The Bouncy Bunnies take their music to life and teach kids to sing, dance, and write lyrics so that song may be dedicated to someone in their life who teaches them how to grow. The dance/movement of Kids Love To Sing has already become a part of their Yoga sessions and they are consistently learning new dance moves as they are requested and requested again as they break down barriers and ultimately free kids to be who they are in their own world.“The Universe Has No Home of Its Own” benefits non-profit organizations and schools and through the song “New Kid” becomes the title of The Bouncy Bunnies Book Project. Their book has been on the radio, in book stores, and available for schools. Several songs of the album have been schools songs and/or videos and have been guest posted on Youtube for the additional treatment. The DJs are always making music and using their talents and resources to help promote organizations. This is a busy season as the Bouncy Bunnies work on new projects. Two great ways to be a part of the projects are to associate with other musical contributors in both music and event venues, or to contact the DJs to create unique content for their projects. Also, in the near future, all of the Bunnies will be taking the summer off to enjoy the sunshine. FUN THINGS TO DO: Check out the “The Bouncy B

Halcyon 6 is a turn-based 4X space strategy game, following the journey of a fleet of fearless, interstellar explorers striving to return home after an unexpectedly extended tour of duty. Will you liberate planets from the clutches of the evil Empire, command a smaller exploratory fleet to seek out new worlds and encounters, save stranded colonists in cryogenic sleep, or rise to the challenge of an alien race that makes their own sense of humour a central part of their conflict? You play as one of four unique races, each of which faces its own challenges when out exploring the galaxy. Build powerful ships in a matter of hours, and then outfit them with a crew and equipment with which to explore any number of new worlds and star systems. With a healthy dose of exploration, diplomacy and combat, each race has something to offer the game’s four-person crew. But building a successful spacefaring civilisation comes with a cost; armadas are expensive, and the longer a fleet operates in hostile space, the more of their technological might they lose to rust and decomposition. Better use that fully-armored ships for planetary invasions than to chase down a handful of derelict freighters. And don’t forget to occasionally drop into one of a hundred hyperdrive-powered star systems and spend a few seconds in their new local systems to loot, discover and plunder. Features • 4 unique races for you to play as, each with their own set of strengths and weaknesses, whether you prefer the swashbuckling freedom of piracy, wish for a zen-like calm, have a grand sense of purpose that inspires you to save the day, or prepare for the ultimate challenge and lead your people to the top of the galactic food chain. • Eager to explore space and leave your mark, but careful not to leave a mess in your wake, build the perfect fleet that suits your gameplay needs. Using unique approaches to the different races, you will be equipped with an arsenal of ships, weaponry and crew that will evolve as you play. • Classic turn-based tactics with real-time ship construction and combat. Build crew, equip them and prepare them for action. Or work in the background, putting together your tools and resources while your fleet is at war. • 2D turns, cutscenes, full 3D combat, a choice of 4D visual effects (day or night) and planetary surfaces with a vast range of geological and environmental features. • Online functionality, leaderboards
