In the gameplay, the puzzle pieces (or tiles) representing the puzzles can be moved by dragging and dropping them onto the board. Use your mouse to drag a tile from the puzzle board to one of your own homeboards. Once the tile touches the board, it will be added to the puzzle automatically. A board can be cleared by dragging all tiles to the center of the board. When the puzzle contains an odd number of tiles, the board will be cleared and an additional tile will be placed in the empty spaces (floors) to complete the puzzle. Of course, the puzzle pieces have a height equivalent to 4 times the height of the board, and they have to be arranged so that they touch the board in all 4 rows, therefore filling the empty spaces. When a tile becomes a part of the puzzle, you will hear a sound effect indicating that the puzzle is now completed. When the puzzle has a solution, a sound effect will indicate that the puzzle is now solved. When the puzzle cannot be completed, you will hear a sound effect indicating that the puzzle cannot be completed. In the gameplay, the puzzles can be solved in a "linear" way, or you can optionally start with a specific puzzle piece located on the right side of the board (or anywhere on the board). After finishing a puzzle, the board will be cleared and another puzzle will be presented.
